By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A New York Negro ex-Communist told a legislative committee that the Rev. Martin Luther King of Montgomery, Ala., is leading Southern Negroes to bloodshed by creating a psychosis of hate.

Manning Johnson, the former Red, said the Alabama Negro minister heading an anti-segregation move is "dastardly misleader, a megalomaniac seeking power."

King is president of the Southern Leadership Conference and has been emphasizing nonviolence after leading the Montgomery bus boycott.

Johnson, before television cameras and radio microphones yesterday, testified the minister's efforts "could lead to communism in the South."

"Civil disobedience, the witness said, 'will lead only to bloodshed and violence. It will lead to the Negroes losing their homes and jobs and create a psychosis of hate.'"

Johnson was a star witness for the joint legislative committee on segregation, probing influences behind racial strife. The group closes its three-day hearings in the state capital today.

Sen. W. M. Rainach, chairman, called the Louisiana probe because he said the civil rights hearings now being held in Washington were painting "only half the picture."

"The true picture of the Communist penetration and utilization of Negroes in this country has been carefully skirted by investigating committees in Congress, Rainach said. 'The two national parties advised them to do so because they were afraid of the bloc voting in Northern cities nominated by the National Assn., for the Advancement of Colored People.'"

Some Snow Is Reported in Dixie Areas

By The Associated Press

Wet and chilly weather was the outlook for most of the eastern third of the nation today, with snow reported in sections of Dixie.

Snow fell during the night from western Pennsylvania and Ohio southwestward through West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee and into the northern half of Mississippi and Alabama. The belt was expected to expand during the day, bringing snow from New England southward through the Mid-Atlantic states and into northern Georgia.

Fresh falls may range up to 5 inches in some areas. Heaviest amounts were indicated for western Virginia through West Virginia and into western and central Pennsylvania.

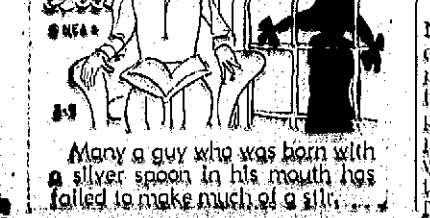

Middle Tennessee was hit by the season's biggest snowfall yesterday, measuring up to 2 to 3 inches. Lighter amounts fell in Alabama from the Tennessee border to Montgomery in the lower half of the state. Flurries sprayed sections of Mississippi as far south as Jackson, and in Georgia, Atlanta reported a brisk wind blew blizzards in the area.

The cold air moving south and eastward behind the belt of snow extended from the Great Lakes southward through eastern Texas and to the Gulf Coast.

Hungarian Reds Turn Down Red Cross

VIENNA (AP) — The International Red Cross announced today that Hungarian Communist authorities are refusing entry visas to Swiss personnel of relief truck convoys.

IRC officials said the refusal may stem from Communist preparations to meet possible unrest in Hungary on March 15, anniversary of the revolt against the Hapsburgs in 1946.

LONG SHOT—Albert Amer who farms near Lexington, Mo., shows triplet calves, which experts say occur about once in 100,000 births. Born to Jersey cow in background, calves—less than a day old in this picture—were about half the size of singly born Jerseys.

Methodist to Close Out Revival Sunday

Rev. Virgil D. Keely, Pastor of the First Methodist Church, announced today that the Revival, combined with the Week of Dedication, would end with the night's services on Sunday. Rev. Keely said that Dr. William E. Brown, pastor of the Methodist Church in Texarkana would fill the pulpit on Friday night. His sermon topic will be "On Being Saved." There will be no services on Saturday evening.

Dr. Arthur Terry, District Superintendent of the Little Rock District Heights Methodist Church in Little Rock, will speak on "How Far Can We See?" and then at the concluding service on Sunday evening, Dr. Kenneth Shamblin of the Pulaski Heights Methodist Church in Little Rock, will speak.

Mr. & Mrs. Paul Fulwider, music minister of the Methodist Church in Austin Texas, will give special musical numbers at all services and will lead the inspirational music. Rev. Keely stated: "If you haven't heard this fine Christian couple in one of their duets, you have really missed a lot. We are certainly fortunate to have musical talent, such as possessed by Mr. and Mrs. Fulwider, to consent to appear in our church."

Rev. Keely said: "The Revival Service and the Week of Dedication had been a tremendous success, far beyond our fondest expectations, and we want to thank all our friends in this area for their fine support."

Freed American May Stay in China

HONG KONG (AP) — An American Lutheran missionary, freed after five years' imprisonment and house arrest in Red China said today he wants to stay there to "find out what it's all about."

The Rev. Paul J. Mackensen Jr. 32, a bachelor from Baltimore, was freed yesterday after serving a term for "acts threatening the security of Red China. The Communists still hold four Americans in prison and five in the Shanghai house where the Lutheran had been kept since last summer.

The missionary said in a telephone conversation from Shanghai that he had undergone "a certain amount of education" while confined and had "learned something of the program for social changes taking place in China."

"Now I'd like to study what is the program for social changes taking place in China," he said.

A Roman Catholic Franciscan, the Rev. Fulgence Gross of Omaha, Neb., is the next American Chinese are expected to free. He is due for release from house arrest March 20.

New Environment Sustains Life

DALLAS (AP) — An Air Force scientist says modern science now can create an artificial environment which would sustain human life on the moon but that the problem is getting there and back.

It. Col. John P. Stapp, chief of the Aero-Medical Field Laboratory at Holloman Air Development Center, N. M., said his laboratory is conducting tests on the creation of such artificial environments.

"Tropical fish can live on the North Pole if they are kept in an enclosed aquarium at proper temperatures," Col. Stapp said. "In the same way, man can transplant an enclosure of human proportions anywhere he wants it. It will sustain life so long as proper temperatures, oxygen, pressure, food and water are available."

House Okays $50,000 for Battlefield Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The House on reconsideration today passed 77-5 a Senate bill to appropriate $50,000 for improvement of the Prairie Grove Civil War battlefield in Washington County.

The House had defeated the bill earlier this week.

The measure was introduced by Sen. Clifton Wade of Fayetteville.

Richards to Visit More Countries

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador James P. Richards said today he may visit 18 or more countries in a two month trip to explain President Eisenhower's new program for blocking Communist expansion in the Middle East.

"The mission is going to be rugged," Eisenhower's special Middle East adviser acknowledged in an interview Richards said he plans to leave Tuesday by plane, accompanied by administration aides.

Administration sources said Eisenhower was ready to sign quickly the Middle East resolution expected to reach the White House late in the day.

House passage, 350-80, yesterday completed congressional action on the resolution, which serves notice that the United States will fight if necessary against any open Communist aggression in the strategic region. The resolution also authorizes military-economic aid to Middle Eastern nations, including spending of a first installment of $200 million-dollars by next July 1 without some restrictions in present law.

Appropriation Bill Still Held Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — House objections to the size of a salary increase proposed for Welfare Director Carl Adams and some other top executives today blocked passage of a Senate bill to appropriate nearly $5 million dollars a year for the Welfare Department.

The House earlier this week amended the bill to reduce the size of the top salary increases but left untouched a provision to give all employees an 11 per cent increase above present rates.

The House yesterday receded from its amendment.

Today, however, when the bill was called up for final passage, several objected again to the executive increases.

Sixty-eight voted for the bill and two against it, but a number of House members refrained from voting.

Seventy-five votes were needed for passage and therefore the bill was blocked temporarily.

It was re-referred to the House as a committee of the whole to be taken up by the committee for consideration on Monday.

Klansmen Plan a Big Rally

CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP) — More than 20,000 Klansmen from Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and North Carolina are expected to attend a Ku Klux Klan rally here Saturday night, March 16, the Cleveland Daily Banner reports.

Editor-publisher Syd S. Gould said today three men who identified themselves as Klan members said yesterday the meeting was for the purpose of building up "volving strength in the Cleveland area."

Conservatives Hold 2 Seats in England

LONDON (AP) — The Conservative party still held two parliamentary seats today after the results were in from special elections, but the Laborite opposition claimed the reduced margins of victory confirmed a trend against the government.

The closest contest was in Warwick, the constituency represented by Sir Anthony Eden for 33 years. There Conservatives John Hobson got 24,948 votes to Labor candidate William Wilson's 22,791.

Eden, who vacated the seat after resigning as prime minister in January, had a 13,156 margin in the last general elections. Laborites declared dubiously that their shoring up of an expectation, Hobson said he hadn't hoped to get anything like the vote pulled in by Eden because of the former Prime Minister's national stature and his long identification with Warwick.

In the other election, at Bristol, Conservative R. G. Cooke defeated Laborite W. T. Rodgers 24,585 to 20,423. The majority compared with 2,001 in the last elections.

Cooke succeeds Sir Walter Mockton, former Conservative Minister of Labor, who recently moved into the House of Lords. Conservative party leaders have blamed voter apathy in their ranks rather than antigovernment feeling for recent Labor gains.

Egypt Okays Clearance of the Suez

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt is reported giving its okay today for final clearance of the Suez Canal.

At the same time, Cairo's Suez Canal Authority announced that vessels up to 500 tons could start using the waterway at daybreak today.

The semi-official Middle East News Agency said permission for removing the last obstacles would be given the U.N. salvage operation chief, retired U.S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler.

Egypt's official excuse for delaying the salvage work on two sunken ships was that explosives had to be removed from the wrecks. The Middle East News Agency said Egyptian army engineers would do this today.

It now is expected the canal will be open by the end of the month to ships up to 10,000 tons—about 70 per cent of normal traffic including most tankers.

The key Middle East waterway was blocked by sunken ships, wrecked bridges and other debris when British and French invasion forces attacked Egypt last fall.

Final clearance was delayed by Egypt until Israeli forces withdrew from the last areas they held following their October-November attack on Egypt's Sinai Peninsula.

The Israelis pulled out of the Gaza Strip yesterday and were to leave the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba today.

The last major obstructions clogging the canal are the 941-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir. The Edgar Bonnet was sunk near Ismailia, the canal's halfway point. The Abukir went down four miles north of Suez, the southern terminus.

Wheeler has estimated it will take three weeks to remove the two ships, clearing the way for ships up to 10,000 tons. Small harbor and coastal craft can skirt cautiously past the Edgar Bonnet and Abukir.

Sergeant Guilty of Mistreating Marine Recruits

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — A husky Marine drill instructor was convicted yesterday of four counts of tapping or touching recruits.

Cpl. William R. Walsh, Lyndhurst, N. Y., had been charged with 24 counts of mistreatment of recruits. He was found innocent of 20 by a special court-martial board after four hours of deliberation.

The board reduced the severity of the four remaining charges. The word "struck" was removed from the charges and changed to either "tapping or touching."

The 25-year-old, 6-foot-2 Walsh had been charged with striking Pvt. David Lee Porter, 18, of Hartford, Vt., the government's chief witness. This charge was thrown out but Walsh was found guilty of touching Porter illegally.

The trial, fourth here in less than a month involving drill instructors charged with mistreating recruits, was touched off by Porter in a letter to his father. He claimed he was struck by Walsh with an iron bar.

In testifying, Porter said he had been struck but did not know with what.

Witnesses attacked the veracity of Porter's statements. Pvt. Carroll L. Smith, 25, Philadelphia, testified that on Dec. 6 he saw Porter with an iron bar.

Smith, who testified Porter was "picking at" the wound, quoted Porter as saying "if I pick it enough I will either go to sick bay in the morning or get some drill instructor in trouble."

A Cancer Vaccine Is Reported

By RENNIS TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A breakthrough in the long efforts of medical science to produce a vaccine against cancer was announced here today.

The new development is a vaccine which protects chickens against a cancer. It does not give full protection and it cannot yet be used on a practical basis, but it "may serve as a model for developing a vaccine for humans," said its originator.

Details of the work were reported to the 11th annual Symposium on Fundamental Research in Cancer by Dr. B. R. Burmester, a virus, specialist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Research Laboratory at East Lansing, Mich.

Dr. Burmester produced the experimental vaccine there.

This kind of cancer is called lymphomatosis. It causes malignant growths on the "hairs" of chickens and it originates as the result of a virus infection. In some respects it resembles leukemia in humans. The cause of human leukemia is not known but a virus is suspected as the initial disease agent.

Virtually every flock of chickens in this country has this virus infection but not all the birds develop cancerous growths, Dr. Burmester said. Sickness and death rates are high among the hens which contact the cancer and it costs poultrymen about 75 million dollars a year, the virologist reported.

The vaccine is an extract from the cancer: It is injected into full-grown hens. Its effectiveness is tested by inoculating the hens later with large doses of the virus. It increases their resistance to lymphomatosis about 5,000 times, Dr. Burmester said.

Chickens hatched from eggs laid by vaccinated hens also have immunity. However, the level of their resistance to cancer is not high enough to warrant their being called completely protected, the virologist added.

The present material is too strong to be given to chicks, Dr. Burmester said he is trying to develop a milder preparation that can be given newly hatched birds that will give them fairly good protection until they mature and acquire a degree of resistance that comes naturally with age.

Although there is a resemblance between chicken lymphomatosis and the human leukemias, which are cancer-like diseases of blood cells, there is no danger to humans from contact with chickens having the disease.

Ike Weakening on Record Budget

B. JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower shows signs of weakening on his record peacetime budget of $71,800,000,000 which has been attacked inside and outside Congress.

He talks now of the possibility of cutting the budget by going slower on some of the programs he proposed. This is not how he talked right after he submitted the budget Jan. 16. But that was before the bad reaction set in.

Businessmen and his own Republicans — even more than the Democrats — have demanded cuts.

At his Jan. 23 news conference after the budget unveiling Eisenhower said there were places where cuts might be made — he didn't say where — and he added his aides were under instructions to look for such places.

But he quoted Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey as saying this was the best budget the entire government, after months of trying, could bring out. Then he said: "As long as the American people demand and, in my opinion, deserve the kind of services that this budget provides, we have got to spend this kind of money."

But at yesterday's news conference he said he has instructed his aides to "find out whether it (the budget) represents the minimum in services and programs that the United States requires. And he added:

"Some of these (services and programs), I think, can be slowed up. We don't have to pursue them in the same speed at a time like this when everybody is contending for dollars."

But everybody was contending for dollars on Jan. 16 and Jan. 23 and nothing new has been added since then except the broad criticism of the budget. Since then these things have happened:

House Republicans have circulated a petition to cut almost seven billion dollars off the budget. The House Republican Policy Committee unanimously called for a cut.

U. S. Chamber of Commerce President John S. Coleman says cuts are a must. And Republican House Leader Martin of Massachusetts, thinking in terms of perhaps a three-billion cut, says this budget is "unbearable" on the people.

In addition, members of Congress have reported enormous mail on the budget subject, much of it, in some cases most of it, unfavorable. But the mail, and polls among businessmen, show not everyone is critical.

Secretary Humphrey, even before Eisenhower made his budget public, said he thought there were lots of places in it that could be cut. But he declined to say where, then or since.

The one man in government who knows more about the budget than anyone — including Eisenhower and Humphrey — is Budget Director Percival Brundage.

This week Brundage said he doesn't see much hope for substantial reductions in federal spending for at least two years.

Man Charged in Liquor Store Attack

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 47-year-old Conway man was bound over to the Pulaski County Grand jury yesterday after a shooting preliminary hearing in connection with a shotgun attack on a liquor store.

Some witnesses at the North Little Rock Municipal Court hearing testified that A. O. Henley was at his home in Conway the night that five shot gun blasts were fired into the J. C. Mode liquor store near North Little Rock. However, other testimony indicated that he was near the store.

Much of the testimony concerned a suit over property line, now on appeal before the Arkansas Supreme Court. Mode appealed after Chancellor Guy Williams ruled that the liquor store extended 23 feet onto Henley's property and ordered Mode to move the store.

John W. Bradley, 22, a clerk, was injured slightly in the Feb. 18 shooting at the store. His 16-year-old wife Jane, the only other person in the store when the blasts were fired through a window, was not hurt.

Time Asked to Study Sewer Project Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The city of Pine Bluff yesterday asked a federal district court here for more time to study a 912-page master's report on a sewer project contract argument.

The report, written by Richard B. McCulloch, of Forrest City, had recommended the Pine Bluff should collect $200,042 in its counter-claim suit against Lancaster & Love, Inc., of Dallas, Tex., which installed the sewer system.

Pine Bluff attorneys requested an extension to April 4 for filing possible objections to the report.

$200,000 'Love' Suit Is Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — $200,000 alienation of affection suit was filed today in Pulaski Circuit Court.

Wilbur J. Jones of Conway accused B. G. Adams of alienating the affections of his former wife, Genita Wirth Jones. They were divorced last year.

Jones asks $20,000 for the loss of the affection and companionship of his four children and $150,000 for the loss of affections and companionship of his wife.

Boxing Group in New York Found Guilty

NEW YORK (UP) — The International Boxing Club of New York and its Chicago affiliate and others were found guilty of violating the anti-trust laws today by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

The court held that the boxing clubs, Madison Square Garden and James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz engaged in a conspiracy which "as a result of their activities acquired power, to exclude competitors from the promotion of championship contests in the United States."

The anti-trust action was filed by the government in March, 1952, and accused the defendants of conspiring to monopolize interstate and foreign commerce in the promotion of title bouts and the sale of radio, television and motion picture rights.

The defendants had moved to dismiss the complaint, claiming that the court here had no jurisdiction and that the government had failed to state a claim on which relief could be granted.

In the "promotion of 80 per cent of all championship bouts in this country between Jan. 1, 1949 and May 15, 1953."

"The defendants, as promoters of such title fights, drive substantially all of their revenue from the sale of tickets of admission and the sale of radio, television and motion picture rights which are in the control of the promoters," the judge said.

Judge Ryan noted that the combine controlled the heavyweight division since 1949, when Wirtz and Norris entered into an agreement with Joe Louis, the champion. At that time, the Joe Louis Enterprises, Inc. agreed to sign the four leading heavyweight contenders.

Louis was then to resign his title and assign the four exclusive contracts to a corporation to be formed by Wirtz and Norris. Under his agreement, Louis was to receive a salary of $15,000 a year; $150,000 in cash, and part of the stock in the newly formed company.

Says Commies Concentrate on Negroes

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Segregation leaders, warned of Communist concentration on Negroes, sought more information today in a legislative probe designed to show that Red pressure is backing integration efforts in the South.

A former top Red testified yesterday that Communists were snatching at leadership of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, after abandoning a Dixie drive behind Communist fronts.

Joseph Z. Kornfeder, Detroit, a tailor who helped form the U.S. Communist party in 1919, told the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation that "the NAACP has coiled off on sponsoring front groups with the Communists."

The Communists are now trying to unite with the NAACP.

The star witness for the segregationists at the first open session said, "The high point of Communist infiltration, ideological and organization, came in the early days of World War II. They treated Negro groups and Negro colleges — all colleges. And the intellectuals were bigger suckers for Communist propaganda than others."

He said he quit the party in 1934 after disagreeing with a change in party line.

"The whole force of the Communist party is concentrated on the NAACP" in this country, Kornfeder said. "They have infiltrated it, but that doesn't mean it is controlled by the Communist party."

The legislative probe, headed by Sen. W. M. Rainach, militant foe of integration, was responsible for court action outlawing the NAACP in Louisiana.

Portland Mayor to Take Lie Detector Test

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Terry D. Schruck of Portland, Ore., faced a lie detector test possibly today on his denial that he accepted a $500 bribe to call off a gambling raid.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate committee probing alleged labor-industry racketeering, said he was trying to arrange the test.

Schrunk, a Democrat, swears yesterday he never accepted the bribe. He agreed to undergo the lie detector test.

Half a dozen other witnesses have told the committee of the alleged bribe of Schruck in 1955 while he was sheriff of Multnomah County, Portland.

Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Or.) said it was apparent somebody had committed perjury. He said he was asking the Justice Department to investigate conflicts in testimony.

The committee is probing charges that high Teamsters Union officials tried to take over the city's vice profits.

The sessions are in recess until Tuesday.

Schrunk claimed testimony against him was "frame" which he said was engineered by Portland gambler James B. Elkins. According to Elkins' testimony, Teamsters Union officials tried to "muscle in" and control Portland vice. He said he went along with them until he suspected they were about to dump him.

Elkins has said that two Seattle gamblers, Thomas Maloney and Joseph McLaughlin, were sent into Portland to take over and expand vice operations. He said they were sent by Frank Brewster, Teamsters Union chief on the West Coast.

Recruits Say Instructor Tapped Them

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — Several Marine recruits testified yesterday that a drill instructor charged with hitting them actually only tapped them.

The testimony came in the court-martial of Cpl. William R. Walsh, Lyndhurst, N. Y., charged with 24 counts of hazing and mistreatment involving 11 members of Recruit Platoon 399. It is the fourth such trial here in less than a month.

Pvt. Edmund L. Ramie, Watertown, N. Y., one of the recruits, said he was told to sign a statement or go to the brig. He said the statement contained the word "hit" but Ramie said he never claimed to have been hit, "only tapped."

Walsh's civilian counsel, lawyer Fred W. Shields of Mount Vernon, Va., then asked, "Did Capt. Morgan tell you it was the truth and to sign it or go to the brig?"

"Yes, sir," Ramie replied.

The officer Shields mentioned is Capt. Pat Morgan, Austin, Tex.

New Hope H. D.

Club Meets

The New Hope H. D. Club met in the home of Mrs. Lurenda Evans on Tuesday, March 5th, with the vice president, Mrs. Letitia Lawson, presiding. After the devotional the roll call was answered by six members and one visitor.

The business session consisted of unfinished and new business with the club making plans to launch a fund raising drive, take in the county dress revue, and county meat and egg show. Reports were made by Mrs. Gracie Mae Harris on club entertainment and on the area leadership training meeting she attended.

The home agent, Mrs. Maude
B. Davis, gave two demonstrations, one on controlling outworn
and one on making tid-bit trays.
These demonstrations were very interesting and the group was happy to receive them.

The hostess, Mrs. Evans, served a very colorful plate of sandwiches, cookies and orange sherbet.

A preview of the next month's program was given, after which the meeting was adjourned.

Purchasing Agent to Handle Insurance

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — All of the state's insurance business would be handled by the state purchasing agent under a bill which passed in the Arkansas Senate today by an 18-14 vote.

Some $500,000 to $700,000 in premiums is involved, but proponents of the bill said that about 80 per cent of this amount of the insurance already is under the jurisdiction of the purchasing agent.

The measure introduced by Rep. E. C. Fleeman of Mississippi County and Ben Bynum of Chi-coto County, would take away the authority of the University of Arkansas, colleges and independent agencies to negotiate their own insurance contracts.

The motion to clinch the vote failed, and opponents apparently will attempt to bring it up for reconsideration.

Only Sen. Lee Bearden of Leachville, Gov. Orval Faubus' spokesman in the Senate, spoke for the bill.

Sen. Robert Hays Williams of Russellville, where Arkansas Tech is located, said that the college had done a satisfactory job in placing its insurance and added that he saw no reason for a change.

Chinese Release Another American

TOKYO, Friday, (UP) — Communist China today announced the release from prison of one of 10 Americans it has been holding on the Chinese mainland.

A four line announcement by Radio Peking heard in Tokyo
said that "American Paul J. Mac-Kensen, Jr., was released by the upon expiration of the prison term
for acts threatening the security."

MacKensen, the radio said, was arrested in Tientsin in 1952.

It gave no other details.

The Rev. MacKensen, 32, is a Lutheran missionary from Baltimore, Md. where his parents, Dr.
Rev. and Mrs. Paul J. MacKensen
Sr live.

He was one of six priests or missionaries held by the Communist Chinese he went to China in 1949, and asked the Peking

Lots of Opinions on Foreign Aid

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — You pay your money and you take your choice.

Bunches of people have been turned loose to study foreign aid.
You could have predicted the result: they're coming up with different answers. The reason is simple: the country itself has varying opinions on foreign aid.

One report has just been made by a seven-man commission appointed by President Eisenhower.
A stream of reports is coming from the 11 organizations and 10
individuals assigned to the study
by a Senate committee.

The report from the president's commission—headed by Benjamin F. Fairless, steel executive—looks far less thorough than the others,
and less thought through.

One thing all the groups have in common: they agree foreign aid in general must be continued. The big difference is on how to do it.

The Fairless group, some of whose members went around the world to make their study which has been going on since last September, put a big emphasis on the role of private American investment abroad.

It probably put too much emphasis on it as a replacement for United States government help to countries in need.

The president's commission has a tendency to speak in broad generalities, stating broad principles, although an examination of details
would have been more instructive.

For example: It says investment abroad by private American capital is "far more desirable than investment by government."

And no doubt it might be a way of relieving the drain on American taxpayers.

But would it work? One of the Senate committee groups— from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology—in its report recognized the "American private capital can play in helping other countries."

It said, "Private foreign investment . . . cannot be expected to carry a major share of an assistance program."

Both the President's commission and the MIT group suggested that American investors overseas be given some help or protection by this government: for instance, in tax relief or against seizure of their property.

The President's commission
runs around the block on the question: Are loans better than outright grants to countries whose ability to pay is questionable? But it wants grants cut way down.

MIT was more direct, simply saying that in some cases loans
should be made, in others, grants.
There are number of detailed differences in the thinking of the two groups.

In the end, since Congress is the one which has the final say on money for foreign aid, the Senate committee studies will probably be more influential than that of the President's commission.

One thing seems certain from all the reports released so far:
this country will probably be giving foreign aid for a long time.

CHAPTER XXXVI

Tom Alder took a thin cigar
from his shirt pocket and sticking it in his mouth, put a match to it. He stood deeply on the sidewalk and looked at his hands.
He held them out, the fingers spread apart. They were steady.

Morgan was coming across the street, was less than 30 yards away now. Alder called, "Have you got a gun, Morgan?"

Morgan came to a full halt.
"Yes," he said, "I've got a gun."

"Use it, then!"

Morgan wore a coat that was open. His gun was thrust behind the waistband of his trousers. He said tonelessly, "I'm going to kill you, Alder. You may get me, but you'll die yourself."

"If that's the way of it, that's the way of it," said Alder.

Across the street, Joe Jagger
had been unable to bear the suspense and had opened the bank door and stood in the open doorway. Morgan did not see him and Alder himself was only vaguely aware of Jagger.

Morgan reached for his gun. His hand gripped the butt firmly, as smoothly and swiftly as he could,
his thumb pressing back the hammer even as he drew.

An invisible bolt smashed Morgan's right forearm. He looked down in astonishment at his gun,
which suddenly lay at his feet.

Was that the best Alder could do?
Morgan tried to stoop to pick up the gun with his left hand, to put one bullet into Tom Alder before the former guerrilla could give him the coup de grace.

A scream split the air even as Morgan started to bend over. It came from behind Morgan.

Cass Simcoe, who had been in the doorway of the St. Louis Store, when Alder's gun had spoken, was running forward now. "No, no!"
she cried.

But Morgan was committed. He had reached for the gun in the street and he had to go through with it. Instinct told him what to do. Stoop, lunge for the gun, throw yourself to the ground, roll away
and come up . . .

He did all those things he heard a roar and thunder, as his fingers closed on the revolver.
Momentarily, he expected the stunning blow of the bullet and he exerted every ounce of his will to continuing the roll . . . and pulling the trigger.

And Alder was down!
Morgan got to his knees, started to push himself up. A man came flying from the direction of the bank, Joe Jagger.

A gun in his hand—lanced fire
and thunder—Morgan and a bullet kicked up dust, inches from Morgan's face. A second bullet whizzed by his ear.

Joe Jagger could not hit the provenial bullseye.

At that instant, Cass Simcoe leaped in front of Morgan, her arms brown wide, as if to protect him.

"Don't!"

Joe Jagger's third and final bullet was his best shot. It would have struck Morgan . . . except that Cass was now in front of him.

Morgan heard the bullet thud into her body, heard her cry out and saw her fall. Morgan rolled his gun, lunge for her, but missed.

governor in 1955 for permission to leave. The governor was rejected. He was arrested March 7, 1952, on trumped-up charges.

The mission was granted from St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., in 1949 and received his divinity degree from Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia in 1947.

her. Cass fell to the street on her face.

Alder, down on the ground, fired one last shot. There was just enough life left in him for it. The bullet went to Joe Jagger. Jagger was dead before he hit the ground.
It was Jagger who had put that last bullet into Jim Alder's head;
Tom Alder knew that as he died.

Morgan gently turned Cass Simcoe over. The left side of her shirt was stained with blood.

"What'd you have to kill him
for she wailed." Tom Alder liked you.

"I liked him," said Morgan.
"But he was trying to kill me."

Chad Morgan "was in the field that day" beside the road running along the river. It was June and he was stacking up the sheaves
of wheat into shocks.

His eyes went to the road and he was glad when he saw a horseman galloping toward him.

And then Morgan saw that the rider was a girl, a girl wearing man's shirt, Levi's cowboy boots.

It was Cass Simcoe.

"Reb!"

"I rode all the way from Emporia since sunup. Dad and the boys brung—brought—a herd up The Trail and I thought while they was hankering to sell, I'd take a run over here . . . I had some business."

"Of course," said Morgan.
She made a sweeping gesture toward the wheat. "That — there's the stuff you sodbusters raise"

"That's wheat, Morgan said quietly.

"I wouldn't be a farmer for all the longhorns in Texas. Well, I got to go now I only stopped by here to tell you that I'm gettin' married soon."

"Cass, Morgan said, "you're telling a whopper."

"All right, what if I am Maybe you're already married—Miss Jagger."

Morgan shook his head. "Helen Jagger went away last fall. She sold the hotel I had a letter from her a couple of months ago. She was on her way to Europe."

"Europe?" sniffed Cass. "Why'd anyone want to go to Europe?"

"Why does anyone want to live in Texas when they can live in Kansas?"

Morgan, grinning, suddenly stepped toward her. She grabbed the reins, started to whirl
the horse away, and turn it toward Morgan's arms. She shot out an sweet her from the saddle.

He held her in a tight embrace
and their lips met.

Cass pulled her head away.
"Do I have to be a Yank she wailed."

(THE END)

Arkansas Blasts

FORT SMITH (AP) — The City Commission yesterday approved a request by Oklahoma Gas & Electric Co. for an increase on its privilege tax from $4,000 to $50,000 a year. At the company's request, the increase was made retroactive to Jan. 1.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 3-day
spring meeting of the Arkansas Broadcasters Association opened here today. Program and sales clinics will conclude the convention Sunday.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Council of Churches plans to study the religious needs of state institutions — including the University of Arkansas and state-supported colleges — the executive committee voted for the survey yesterday.

Policewoman Tells of Sinatra Escape

By GENE HANDBAKER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pretty policewoman says she knocked on Frank Sinatra's front door about 4 a. m. last Feb. 18 and called
"Daddy," "Darling," "Lover
Boy" and "Frankie in an effort to arouse the crooner.

Mrs. Glory Dawson testified yesterday she was helping two fellow Los Angeles policemen
serve a subpoena on Sinatra.

When her dulcet entreaties caused no sign of life at Sinatra's darkened home near Palm Springs, the plainclothesmen
entered with a key they found sticking in the door. One said he shined a flashlight in Frankie's eyes and shook him awake while the other officer read the subpoena aloud and the crooner sputtered apropos.

The testimony was given at deposition hearings, which, said a Attly. Milton A. Rudin, are intended to determine if the crooner has a cause for action and, if so,
whom he should sue.

North Carolina Mentor Is Coach of Year

By EARL WRIGHT
NEW YORK (UP) — Frank McGuire, who transferred his big grin and a heavy of talented college basketball players from New York to the University of North Carolina today was voted United Press coach of the year.

McGuire's Tar Heels, nine of whom hail from the New York City area, swept 24 games to become the only major college able to finish the regular 1956-57 season with a perfect record. This showing earned McGuire coach of the year honors by a huge margin in a nationwide poll of 267 sports writers and broadcasters.

The 42-year-old coach received 150 votes, 54 per cent of the total cast although 33 coaches were mentioned on the ballots. Adolph Rupp, whose Kentucky Wildcats won the Southeastern Conference title, was a distant second with 22
votes, Bill Strangman of Iowa State was third with 13.

Branford Dumas coach who was next, with eight votes, and Forrest (Fordy) Anderson of Michigan State was fifth with seven. Donald (Dudey) Moore of Duke, a two-time winner of the United Press poll, was next with six. Freddie Schaas of West Virginia, Pete Newell of California,
Johnny Wooden of UCLA, Jie Curran of Canisius and Babe Mc-Carthy of Mississippi State each received five votes. John Castellani of Seattle and Doc Hayes of Southern Methodist were next with four apiece.

Like Phil Woolpert, the San Francisco coach who won the United Press coach of this year award the past two years, and Moore, the Duke coach who won it in 1954, McGuire is the latest to disprove Leo Durocher's theory that "nice guys always finish last."

Although he had no occasion to prove it during the regular 1956-57 campaign, McGuire always can muster a smile after a defeat and has good "bench manners" while his team plays.

Schrunk described the $500
bribe charge as a "fantastic frame."

The mayor, who commented that he had a college degree and saw wartime service as a naval officer, told the committee:

"I'm not too smart. I realize that (But) I'm just not stupid enough to take that kind of a bribe . . . it just doesn't make sense."

James B. Elkins, self-confessed
Portland racketeer and the committee's star witness, had testified that Bennett told him he paid Schrunk $500 to prevent a raid on his 8212 Club.

Frank Daniels, an unemployed
bar tender, and Portland Policeman Merlin Tideman and Lowell E. Amundson said they watched Bennett cross the street in front of the club, stoop and deposit something that looked like a
